Simpson files for re-election for S.M. City Council

Mayor Pro Tem Sam Simpson has re-filed as a nominee for City Council. He joins incumbent, Mayor Andrew Roy Buchan, and four challengers, James Hester, George Maurer, Helen Hernandez Snoddy and Eileen (Brennan) Steele.

Simpson was elected to the council four years ago and served eight years on the Parks and Recreation Commission as both a member and as chariman. He served as a member of the zoning board, on the fire and police facility new building and city hall building committee, and on the committee for the extension of Mariposa Avenue.

He was also chairman of the city yards committee. He has been president of the Sierra Madre Cemetery Association for 25 years.

"I am the only City Council candidate who has been a retail merchant in town, who knows the problems facing the downtown business people. I believe I can be of help to the business community. I feel with my experience in business and city affairs, I am qualified to serve Sierra Madre for another four years," Simpson says.

Simpson was owner of a dry cleaning business for 25 years and retired in 1963.

Sam Simpson

Simpson was born and educated in Denison, Tex. and has been a resident of Sierra Madre for 45 years.

He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and of Kiwanis Club while he was in business. He is a Past Master of Sierra Madre Masonic Lodge, a member of the Order of Eastern Star and was Worthy Patron in 1960 and 1962. He is a member of the Scottish Rite of Free Masons, a member of Al Maliaki Shrine Temple. Simpson is also a member of Bethany Church.

Cablevision is sold; agrees to maintain Sierra Madre office

Cablevision, Sierra Madre's cable television company, was under fire at Tuesday evening's City Council meeting, and Joe Biolsi, the company's manager in Sierra Madre and Arcadia, agreed under pressure that he would discontinue searching for a payment station here to take the place of the office on N. Baldwin in Sierra Madre.

"I don't mean to break the contract," he told councilmembers. "The studio was originally set up in back (of Sierra Madre's television office). The reason we were looking for plans to move the studio to Arcadia High School is because we couldn't find a suitable location here. The station was not used that much in Sierra Madre in 1987."

Councilman Bruce Crow shot back, "If you remove the service, you've violated the contract. It's not providing service."

Councilman Clem Bartolai, who was on the council when the franchise was hammered out originally, asked, "Is the decision on the local level or is it a corporate level decision? Are they aware of what you're proposing?"

Biolsi said, "I take full responsibility." After heated discussion, Biolsi conceded, "All points (council members were making) are very valid. I'm not going to break my contract. I don't believe we want to pass on the increases to the customers. I will keep the offices in Sierra Madre but I will look for another location."

Mayor Pro Tem Sam Simpson, who drew the first pistol at the council meeting when he quizzed Biolsi about why no Sierra Madre Cablevision phone number is printed continued, "I think it's a disgrace to the company to even think of doing that. I'm really disgusted with the way the company

Reduced hours at post office

Sierra Madre Postmaster Tom Ludovico announced this week that the Sierra Madre Post Office at 61 S. Baldwin will be shutting down from 1 to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays in an effort to cut back because of the national deficit. The reduced hours will begin Feb. 15. The post office will be closed Monday because of President's Day.

The post office will maintain its regular hours Monday and Friday, from 8:30 to 5 p.m.

The contract station at Abacus will retain its usual hours, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. from Monday through Saturday.

Ludovico says more information will be available for next week's edition of The News.

'Bridge-in' produces results

Canyon residents in the Woodland bridge area munched salad and chicken and discussed ideas of how to improve the looks of the freeway bridge incongruously placed in the sylvan canyon climes of Sierra Madre. Noses turned pink in the summer-like sun Sunday afternoon while the strains of Bach rolled through the vine-covered slopes.

And while they ate the potluck lunch on the tables lining the bridge, they talked about possiblities of how they might transform the steeliness of the bridge into pseudo-quaint with shrubs, vines and paint.

The residents staged the "bridge-in" Sunday to explore ways the seven-ton bridge could be made to look more like the pastoral surroundings.

When the Los Angeles Road Department laid down the law two years ago and told Sierra Madre to repair, replace or post the bridge, according to McRea, they had to come up with arrangements to finance and replace the bridge that had been declared unsafe for any heavy equipment. That equipment included fire trucks, trash trucks and flood control equipment. As a federal project, certain guidelines had to be observed. Width of the old bridge was about 14 feet and it could safely carry about 1½ tons, says Sierra Madre Fire Marshal Bill Kramer.

The present bridge is 28 feet wide and 45 feet long, McRea says.

Federal funds were used to finance the bridge since the city of Sierra Madre had no money to spend.

City Administrator Jim McRea Sunday suggested removing some of the slats to open up the sides so that children could see the rushing water below without climbing atop the huge bridge.

Someone else suggested lining the top of the bridge with a series of window boxes and filling them with perennial flowers. Someone said, "Why don't we place boxes inside the guard rail and plant vines to trail over the rail and hide it?"

Another suggestion was to face the metal top and guardrail with wood.

Pat Fiedler suggested a contest of renderings for suggested changes by canyon artists. Arnold Hasdale and George Bishart, both artists, agreed that they would be glad to come up with some ideas to present McRea who would in turn show them to L.A. County.

Toby McManmon said, "We don't want another hodgepodge. Get someone to take the ideas and see what can be done. Can we reduce the length of the guard rails?"

McRea answered, "The county indicated that anything's possible except changing the guard rails. . . . Would you go for the fence to be the same height as the bridge?" The chain link fence is 1 1/4 feet higher than the bridge.

Sol Feldthouse said, "Maybe we can come up with a modification that would make it look better. This is not our old quaint bridge. Could we paint it white?"

Mary Montez was optimistic, "I hope we solve other problems today such as the condition of the roads in the canyon. It's fun anyway. Where else could you have a street party. Only in the canyon."

Pam Williams declared, "I think it looks terrible. I think they could have done so much more. I brought my grandson up here and I had to lift him up so he could see the water."

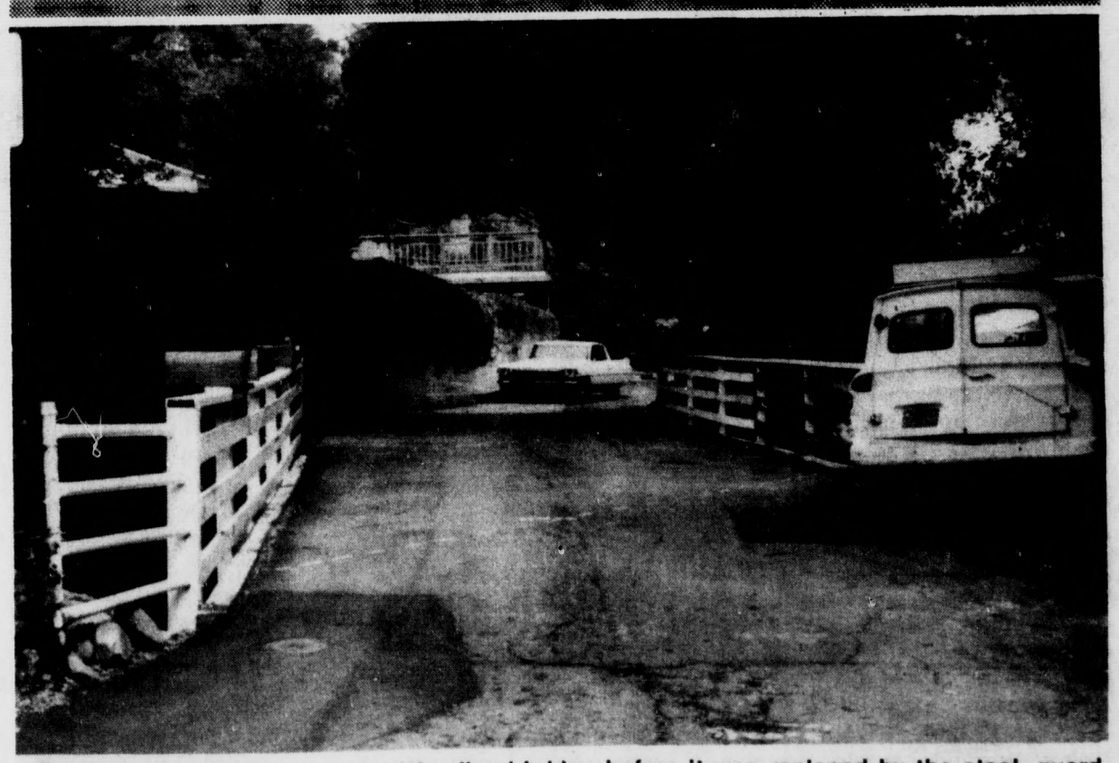

Caroline Brown said, "Basically, the size is the greatest problem. The way the sides were finished seems inappropriate for the mass and surroundings."

Anna Rouse, who had not seen the bridge before, remarked, "I was pleasantly surprised. It is unfair though that people lost their parking spaces."

McManmon concluded, "We need it to look more aesthetic and less institutional."

Fiedler agreed, "It was pretty before. It's ugly now."

Freeways allowing 65 mph speed

California Highway Patrol Commissioner James E. Smith admits that many motorists are still confused about which rural freeways are posted at 65 mph — "but there should be no confusion about the CHP's commitment to enforcing the speed limit."

Ninety-five percent of the California highways that carried a 55 mph maximum speed limit are still 55," Smith said. "There are only 1168 miles of rural interstate freeway on which 65 mph is the legal maximum. And I mean maximum. A 65 mph maximum speed sign is not permission to go 68 or 70 or 75."

Smith is concerned that some motorists expect a five-to-10 mile per hour tolerance on the part of Highway Patrol officers. "They are surprised or angry when they are stopped. But we have made no secret of our commitment to enforce both maximum speed limits — the 55 and the 65 — with every tool at our disposal."

The number of speeding citations for passenger vehicles on the 65 mph freeways is down about a third since the speed limit was raised at the end of May, 1987. "Most cars are traveling in the 65 mph range, just as they were before the change, but now that speed is legal."

In contrast, truck speeding violations are up almost 80 percent of these same rural freeways. The maximum speed for trucks and cars pulling trailers remains 55 mph everywhere.

'Search for Solutions' for Sierra Madre

Small towns involved in the "Search for Solutions" to their economic development problems should note that thriving rural communities share certain characteristics.

Pioneed Hi-Bred International, Inc. employees, sales representatives and community leaders learned the clues to rural economic survival at a "Search for Solution-Rural Economic Development" session sponsored by the Des Moines (Iowa) company. Speakers Milan Wall and Vicki Luther, Ph.D., co-directors fo the Heartland Center for Leadership Development (Lincoln, Neb.), studied successful small towns and found that they showed evidence fo 20 special traits. Among them are:

● Community Pride. Pride shows up in community festivals and events that celebrate the community, its history and heritage.

● Emphasis on Quality in Business and Community Life. People believe that something worth doing is worth doing right. Facilities are built to last, as are homes and other improvements.

● Participatory Approach to Community Decision-Making. Authoritarian models don't exist. Even the most powerful opinion leaders work through formal and informal systems to build consensus.

● Realistic Appraisal of Future Opportunities. Realizing that they are unlikely to land a giant industry, and that too much reliance on one industry is unhealthy, successful towns build on their own inherent strengths.

● Active Economic Development Program. An organized, active approach to economic development involves both public and private sector initiatives, often working together.

Deliberate Transition of Power of a Younger Generation of Leaders. People under 40 often hold key positions in both civic and business affairs.

Acceptance of Women in Leadership Roles. Women are elected mayors and presidents of chambers of commerce, and are hired to manage health care facilities and develop entrepreneurial ventures.

● Strong Belief in and Support for Education. Good schools are a point of pride, as well as a stable employment force.

● Sound and Well-Maintained Infrastructure. Successful rural communities work hard to maintain and improve streets and sidewalks, water systems and sewage treatment facilities.

● Conviction that, "In The Long Run, You Have To Do It Yourself." Although outside help is sought when appropriate, thriving small towns believe their destiny is in their own hands.

In addressing the nationally represented gathering, Wall and Luther explained, "The towns we studied were not hoping someone else would save them, nor did they believe that 'things would turn out' if they just sat back and waited."

Another expert, Jeffrey H. Schiff, executive director of the National Association of Towns and Townships, told the Pioneer audience that economic solutions must be customized to fit individual communities. "Successful communities capitalized on their own resources," he said.

● I'm a two-time loser. Our family went out to dinner Sunday evening and I found that my glass was not clean. I sent it back. The next glass had lipstick on it. I sent it back and wouldn't let the waiter leave until I had checked the third glass. It was clean.

● Chuck Cherniss, editor at Pasadena Star News, was one of our contestants in the word contest sponsored by The News recently.

He said in a note, "You caused me a great deal of trouble. As an old writer and crossword puzzle fan, I couldn't resist spending my lunch hour doing your word contest."

Thanks for participating. You did well, Chuck.

● Jack Taylor of Sierra Madre, son of Candy and Robert Taylor, participated in the Navy Band Concert Feb. 10 as a representative from Pasadena High School. Also participating was Tanya Hill of Pasadena.

Congratulations, Jack and Tanya.

We also hear that Jack is about to become an Eagle Scout. Again, our congratulations.

● My anonymous friends, Snoop the Scoop and Woodstock, sent me a wonderful birthday card, and I'd like to send my thanks to them.

As you might recall, Snoop is the reason why we held the word contest. The person who continues to be anonymous suggested such a contest and it was quite a success, we feel. In fact, Snoop, it was such a success we plan to sponsor another such contest next year. Of course, we can't use the same words, but we're thinking . . .

● From time to time you see the big flag in Kersting Court down. Bill Birgensmith, keeper and donor of the flag, tells us why it is down — because of the weather. Each time Bill hears that we're about to have Santa Ana winds, he takes it down.

This week it was gone for only two days and then back up again. I surely miss it when I can't see it hovering over the court.

● Julian LaLone has his 80th birthday on Feb. 17 and we urge all of you to remember that special occasion.

Those of you who have been here for a number of years remember that the LaLone family has been very active in the community. Julian was a technical sergeant in World War II and won high commendations for helping to shatter the world's records for repairing aircraft at the Air Service Command Depot in England.

Edward LaLone, who was recently in the hospital, spent 32

Applauds local police department

The undersigned business people would like to express their heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the members of the Sierra Madre Police Department for actions well above and beyond the call of duty.

On the nights of Wednesday and Thursday, our four businesses were without electricity, leaving no security lighting and repeatedly malfunctioning alarm systems, as our only protection.

The patrolmen on duty not only provided extra patrol service, but patiently answered each and every alarm signal within a few seconds throughout both nights.

They knew we were in trouble and they responded in the finest tradition of law enforcement.

We feel Sierra Madre is indeed fortunate to have such a caring police force for their community. The Sierra Madre Police Department is to be commended.

Old Fashioned

Tips, Tales & Tantalizers

It's understandable why I have the habit of taking off my shoes right away when I get home from work. After all, whoever heard of a person walking on the balls of her feet which were propped up by spikes. Well, to be specific, back in 17th century France, the aristocrats throught it proper to wear high heels. It created a physical elevation, which matched the upper, social class. But besides that it did keep the person's feet drier and mud free.

There was a time, when men and women had to be transported in chair-type of vehicles, because it was to difficult to maneuver the cobble-stoned streets without turning an ankle. Yet, high heels have remained popular, even in this 20th century. It is said that women wear heels because it increases her attractiveness to men. Heels represent fragility. They define certain muscles which accentuate certain parts of a woman's anatomy.

However, I have found that exaggerated curves are also found when a woman wears wonderfully, flat, comfortable tennis shoes. In fact, I find it much easier to walk. I feel more sure-footed, secure, ready to leap over mudholes in a single bound! And yet, I just don't feel quite the same in them. I don't feel as tall. And I find that if I wear tennis shoes with my work suits, well, it completely throws the hemline all off.

So, each evening being forced to walk on my tippy-toes all day, I can hardly wait to get home and take those high heels off, then spend the rest of the evening massaging my aching feet. Give them up? Well, I might. Providing the hemline goes up.

Skatepark, gas leak concern P & R Commission

By Bill Seavey

An expected fireworks show surrounding a citizen committee's hopes to build a skateboard park was a bit of a fizzle at Monday night's Sierra Madre Parks and Recreation Commission meeting.

But a slow "hiss" caused by a leaking gas source in the Sierra Madre Room's kitchen, a rentable facility, caused an explosion of concern by commission members.

Susan Hartley, spokesperson for "over 70 youth and adults" who had attended the previous week's meeting to formalize a skateboard park action group, appeared before the commission to voice unity on the need for a facility.

"We've spent almost 7 months trying to do something," she said, "and these people finally rallied to help." Between 15-20 members were in the audience at city council chambers.

Hartley introduced officers of the new, as yet unnamed, committee: J. J. Marvil, vice chairman; Linda Huss, secretary; and Tom Stanford, treasurer. She also introduced officers of a youth committee who met last Sunday.

In appearing at the meeting, the group's primary goal, Hartley said, was to get commission guidance in compiling facts and figures related to a detailed proposal planned for the next commission meeting Mar. 21 at 7 p.m.

Commission Chairman William Sullivan pointed out that "we are at the bottom rung of the ladder" in terms of influence. Other commission members expressed concern over whether the park was going to be member-oriented, whose land it was going to be sited on, the cost, sponsorship, noise factors and zoning regulations.

A discussion on raising fees on the city's rentable facilities (including Sierra Madre Room and Fireside Lodge) drew attention to an unresolved problem in the building's jointly used kitchen.

For some years, said recreation supervisor Donna Harriman, there has been a slow gas leak either underground or in pilot light. This leak, she said, has been checked by the fire department and gas officials who stated the cost to eliminate it "wasn't worth it." This leak has been a factor in discouraging the city from putting in a kitchen door which could potentially allow the gas to build up.

"This may be a death trap and nobody's taking action on it," said Mayor Pro Tem Sam Simpson. "If it costs a million dollars we need to fix it," said Commissioner Gloria Giersbach. Simpson promised to talk to the fire marshal about it.

In other business:

- Harriman announced that over 70 children had signed up for the Valentine's Day packet (almost double from last year) and there was no more room. She said plans for the Valentine's Day Workshop and Dance this Friday were going well.
- There was a unanimous vote to raise the after school program fees from $25 to $30. New monies might eventually allow expansion of the taxi service, which now only picks up at Sierra Madre School.
- Commissioner Ronald Coleman reported that the CCCs were at work on the Bailey Canyon upper trail with Search and Rescue guidance. He said the trail couldn't extend to Jones Peak without an environmental impact study and archeological survey which he felt the U.S. Forest Service should pay for (it's their land).

Manuel receives award

Veneranda Manuel has been presented by the city of Pasadena an Exceptional Service Award in grateful acknowledgement of outstanding performance at the Hastings Branch Library.

As assistant branch librarian she protected the library's security after hours because of a faulty locked door. She promptly undertook the necessary steps to procure the proper maintenance crew to secure the building.

Veneranda has been at the Hastings Branch Library for a year and one-half and been with the city library system seven and one-half years.

Brownies learn library skills

Assumption School Girl Scout Brownies are learning library skills as they study to qualify for the Girls Scout California Reading Ranger Patch at the Hastings Branch Library.

Meeting last Tuesday afternoon in the library conference room, Brownies read stories to each other, gave verbal book reports, and became familiar with library reference material. Brownie leader is Susan Hadfield who is well familiar with scouting.

Susan Hadfield began her scouting career 22 years ago when she became a Brownie. Her long scouting experience has been invaluable in molding the some 23 members of Brownie Troop 35 into enthusiastic, active scouts.

To earn a reading patch, Brownies must complete four activities in reading, according to Scout Leader Hadfield. They must develop a scrapbook to keep their California Reading mementos; they must visit a library; they must place library information in their scrapbook; and they must draw a map showing their home, school and nearest library.

UHRA residents enjoy race day

Some 200 residents and friends of Upper Hastings Ranch gathered last Saturday in the patio of Santa Anita Race Track to celebrate "A Day at the Races," annual scholarship fund drive of the Upper Hastings Ranch Association.

The day was sunny and balmy, ideal California weather for sitting out in the open and viewing the exciting races at Santa Anita. Ranch resident Stan Elman was Upper Hastings Chairman for the event.

For the last several years "A Day at the Races" has been one of our most popular events, so said Burt Garavaglia, 1988 president of the Upper Hastings Ranch Association.

Dorothy Howe Hoien

Dorothy Howe Hoien

Memorial services for longtime Sierra Madre resident, Dorothy Howe Hoien, 86, are planned for Saturday, Feb. 13, 2 p.m. at Santa Anita Church, 226 W. Colorado Blvd. A reception will follow at the church. Interment is private.

Mrs. Hoien died at Methodist Hospital, Arcadia, on Thursday, Feb. 4.

Mrs. Hoien was born Aug. 13, 1901, in Los Angeles and grew up there. She graduated with an M.A. in education from UCLA and also attended the University of Southern California and Claremont Graduate School.

She was an elementary teacher in the Los Angeles City Schools and Whittier District; elementary teacher in Los Angeles County Schools; supervisor and consultant in the Los Angeles County Schools from 1943 until her retirement in 1966. She taught summer courses at USC, San Diego State College, San Francisco State College and Chico State College. She was also director of an African Studies Workshop at UCLA.

She served as California State president of Delta Kappa Gamma from 1949 to 51.

Following her retirement as educator in the Los Angeles School System, Mrs. Hoien devoted time to service in Sierra Madre, serving as president of the Sierra Madre Historical Society. Under her leadership the plan for the town's bell tower in Kersting Court was implemented. She was a leader in establishing annual historical tours and was an active member and served as a board member for a number of other local organizations.

She was known for her lifelong dedication to quality education for young children and their teachers, the preservation of local history and the preservation of the natural environment.

Mrs. Hoien is survived by a daughter, Alicita V. Hamilton, Denver, Colo. and her son-in-law, Dr. Warren B. Hamilton, research geologist USGS. Three grandchildren also survive: Dr. L. C. Hamilton, sociologist at the University of New Hampshire; Kathryn Hamilton-Harhai, architect, Denver; and Dr. J. D. Hamilton, economist at the University of Virginia. Also, a stepson, Dr. R. Dudley Hoien, Long Beach, and three grandchildren, Sarah, David and Laura Hamilton. Dr. Ralph M. Hoien preceded in death two years ago.

The family urges those who wish to remember her with a memorial to make a donation in Mrs. Hoien's name to a favored charity group.

Gladis Marie Arnold

Funeral services for Gladis Marie Arnold were held at 11 a.m. Feb. 9 at Rose Hills Memorial park. Mrs. Arnold died Feb. 6.

She was a longtime Sierra Madrean and was the widow of Oliver Perry "Ollie" Arnold, founder and owner of Arnold's Hardware, who died Aug. 9, 1982.

Mrs. Arnold is survived by her son, Oliver Perry Arnold and a daughter, Jean Hatfield of Sierra Madre. Also surviving are five grandchildren, and two nieces, June Debus and Pat Pollart.

Douglass and Zook Mortuary had charge of the services.

Celeste Burns

Private committal was held at Sierra Madre Cemetery for Celeste Burns, 89, Sierra Madre, who died Feb. 6 in Pasadena.

Mrs Burns, orignially from Iowa, had lived in Sierra Madre since 1917.

She was a member of St. Rita's Catholic Church, Sierra Madre. Her late husband, William E. Burns, died in 1965.

She is survived by a son, William E. Burns, Sierra Madre; and a niece, Celeste Miller, Santa Fe, N.M.

Those wishing to give a memorial should consider "Missionaries of Charity," 1600 Ingreham St., Los Angeles, CA 90017.

On Stage

By Mary Cogswell Baum

After something of a dry spell, two fully staged Broadway musicals are opening in the next two weeks.

The San Gabriel Valley Civic Light Opera returns after its earthquake adventures, with a splashy production of "42nd Street."

When this nostalgic tale was playing at the Pantages some time ago, a young person was overheard saying, "I can't believe how corny the plot is!" Obviously the child was unfamiliar with the Ruby Keeler musical of the '30s which introduced the immortal line, "I want you to go out on that stage a chorus girl and come back a star!" That isn't corn, my friends, that's classic!

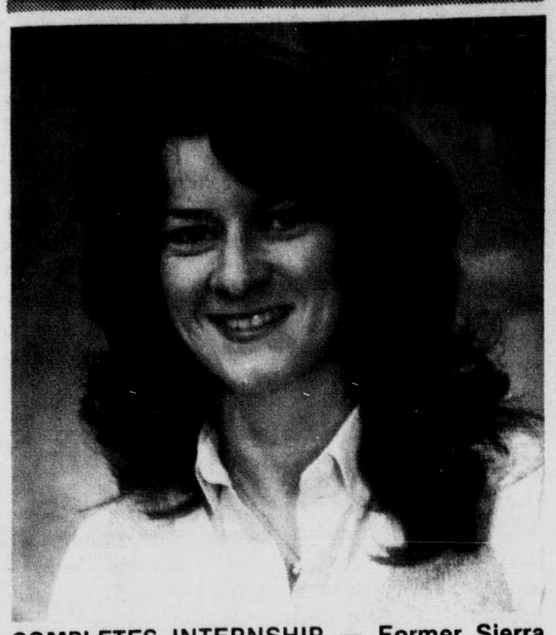

The stage musical is a loving tribute to the '30s, and to the thousands of performers who have held that line, however unrealistically, in their heart of hearts. Choreographer Rikki Lugo has had half the young dancers in the Valley taking tap lessons so that the famous "beat of dancing feet" will provide the right kind of rhythmic thunder.

As for the building itself, however dramatic the pictures may have looked, the damage to the auditorium itself was only cosmetic, not structural, and the City of San Gabriel is proud enough of its colorful auditorium to have had the restorers of the state capitol come in to repair the elaborate ceiling. While they were at it, they cleaned it, and the effect is as bright as when the old Mission Playhouse opened some 65 years ago. Work is still in progress at restoring the facade and towers, which will eventually look as they did, but using "modern construction techniques." That means they will definitely not fall on you.

"42nd Street" starts Thursday, Feb. 12 and plays Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday through Feb. 21. Call 281-9444 for reservations.

Just a week later comes the opening of the California Music Theater's '88 season, the West Coast premiere of the Broadway hit, "Drood." Some of the cast of the Broadway production will be with it. It seems that when Charles Dickens died, he left an unfinished manuscript, "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." Imaginations have been tickled ever since, wondering how it was to have ended. In this musical version, the plot is presented in a series of music hall turns and the audience is allowed to participate in the solution of the mystery. New York was so delighted that it received the Tony Award as Best Musical and played over 600 performances.

In anticipation of the interest in the LA area, the Music Theater has added a week to its usual subscription performances. The schedule runs from Feb. 18 through Mar. 5 (no Mondays) with several matinees. Call 356-SHOW for reservations.

COMPLETES INTERNSHIP — Former Sierra Madre resident Deborah Roberts BSc., recently completed her dietetic internship at the University of Wisconsin Hospital in Madison, Wis., and is currenly employed at that hospital.

Rare oranges

Until about the 18th century, oranges were enjoyed almost exclusively by kings, emperors, prelates and aristocrats. Nobody else could afford them.

Gentle dogs

According to a survey by the United Nations, proportionately fewer dogs bite mailmen in England than in any other country on earth.

Patchword set for Feb. 14

Patchwork, a self-help group for widows and widowers of all ages, will meet Wednesday, Feb. 17, from 7 until 9 p.m. in the Board Room at St. Luke Medical Center, 2632 East Washington Boulevard in Pasadena.

The meeting is open to the public, and is free of charge. Refreshments will be served. For more information, please call (818) 797-1141, extension 310.

Skatepark, gas leak

● Harriman reported that the pool opened last week and that the facility needs a head swim coach. Two under age 18 assistants under adult supervision are, however, working out well, she said.

● Harriman also reported that Dapper Field will get new sod by Mar. 1 once an OK is received by the state. This was made possible by a $6000 donation from the flag associaton.

● Discussion was held on improvements to Sierra Vista Park's restrooms, including converting one to a check-in facility for children's athletics. Low bid of $5600 was received for fencing around the ballpark and the commission passed a motion to submit plans to the city council.

& ENTERTAINMENT

Mime at Occidental

Mime Robert Shields will replace Compagnie Philippe Gentry in the Occidental College Artist Series on Friday, Feb. 12, at 8:15 p.m. in Thorne Hall.

Valentine celebration

In honor of St. Valentine's Day, the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County and the Los Angeles Conservancy are inviting the public to celebrate Hollywood's romantic past with "Reel Love: Romantic Images of the Silver Screen," a tour through a historic movie palace and a film program celebrating love and romance.

On Friday, Feb. 12, beginning at 7:15 p.m., docents will guide visitors through the Million Dollar Theater, a terra-cotta movie palace that launched Sid Grauman's career as a showman and hosted such famous figures as Judy Garland and Rudolph Valentino. The theater is one of 12 movie palaces in L.A.'s Broadway historic district to be listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

The Million Dollar Theater is located at 307 S. Broadway in Los Angeles and cost for the evening is $15 per single person and $25 per couple.

To register or for more information, call the Natural History Museum's Education Division at (213) 744-3534 or 744-3342.

Belgrade folk ensemble

Ambassador Foundation's Family Pops series continues at Pasadena Civic Auditorium on Saturday evening, Feb. 13, at 8:30 p.m. with a performance by the Belgrade State Folk Ensemble.

Tickets are available at the Pasadena Civic Box Office and the Ambassador Ticket Office, 300 West Green Street, Pasadena or by calling PhoneCharge: (818) 304-6161 or (213) 681-0212. Tickets are also available at all Ticketron outlets and through Teletron: (213) 410-1062 or (714) 634-13000 (service charge applies). All concerts at Ambassador Auditorium are sponsored by Ambassador College.

Drawing plants

Pat Brame, scientific illustrator and artist for the Los Angeles County Nature Centers, is again giving her series of wildflower art workshops at Eaton Canyon Center, Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 11, Jan. 16 through Mar. 5. The workshops cost $6 per session. Some supplies are provided.

For more information, call Eaton Canyon Nature Center, (818) 794-1866.

Mary Cassatt video

A 30-minute video presentation, "Mary Cassatt: Impressionist from Philadelphia," will be shown at the Huntington Library on Tuesday, Feb. 16, at 2:30 p.m. in the Overseers' Room. This program is shown in conjunction with the current exhibit in the Scott Gallery on "American Drawings and Watercolors from the Huntington Collection." A pastel by Mary Cassatt has been part of the Huntington since Henry Huntington's day. The exhibit will run until May. 10.

ART & ENTERTAINMENT

Music from the Soul

An evening of "Music from the Soul" is planned featuring Flamenco guitarist Carlos Montoya and folk singer Odetta, Saturday, Feb. 13 at 8 p.m. in Caltech's Beckman Auditorium.

Odetta, performing folk and guitar music, opens the program. Following intermission, Montoya will play the improvised pieces that reflect his Spanish gypsy heritage.

Tickets can be purchased at the Caltech ticket office, 332 S. Michigan Ave., Pasadena and at all Ticketron outlets.

Valentine fete

A sea of red gowns and black tie attire will be the sight at the special Valentine's evening planned at Cafe Jacoulet, Feb. 14.

With a menu of items for two to share, and music by jazz guitarist Phil Upchurch, the evening promises to recreate the magic offered by Cafe Jacoulet every year for Valentine's celebration.

The Valentine's dinner is traditionally a sold out event so advance reservations are a must. Two seatings are offered: 6 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Philosophy professor

"Berkeley's Unimaginable Tree" will be examined by Alan White, professor of philosophy at the University of Hull, England, Thursday, Feb. 11, at 4 p.m. in Occidental College's Morrison Lounge.

For further information, call (213) 259-2792.

Valentine gifts

Valentine gifts, both pragmatic and romantic, will be available at the orchid and specialty plant sale Saturday, Feb. 13, at the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum in Arcadia. Sale hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., but shoppers who came last year know they must come early for the best selection.

Second Sunday concerts

"Second Sunday Concerts" presents an all instrumental program, featuring the East-West Wind Quartet, on Sunday, Feb. 14, at 2:30 p.m. in Wright Auditorium, Pasadena Central Library, 285 E. Walnut St.

Second Sunday Concerts are presented by the Tuesday Musicale of Pasadena and the Central Library and are free and open to the public.

'The Curious Savage'

"The Curious Savage," a three-act comedy by John Patrick opened with champagne at the Sierra Madre Playhouse on Friday, Jan. 15, for a run or six weekends.

"The Curious Savage" is set in a residential psychiatric treatment center in the '50s when the wife of a wealthy patient starts to liquidate her husband's estate. In the ensuing struggle between her and her formidable adult step-children, the author deftly and amusingly contrasts the order and sanity of the patients in the treatment center with the disorder and insanity of the outside world.

Any are residents interested in working on this production as technical crew should call 358-9116, or leave a message with the Playhouse box office at (818)355-4318.

"The Curious Savage" runs Fridays and Saturdays at 9 p.m through Feb. 20. .

Author Stephen Jay Gould

Author Stephen Jay Gould, an authority on paleontology and evolutionary theory, will discuss "Charles Darwin and the Science of History," at 8 p.m., Friday, Feb. 19, in the Humanities Auditorium on the Scripps College campus in Claremont. Sponsored by the Scripps Humanities Institute, the lecture is fee and open to the public.

For more information, call (714) 621-8326.

Organ concert

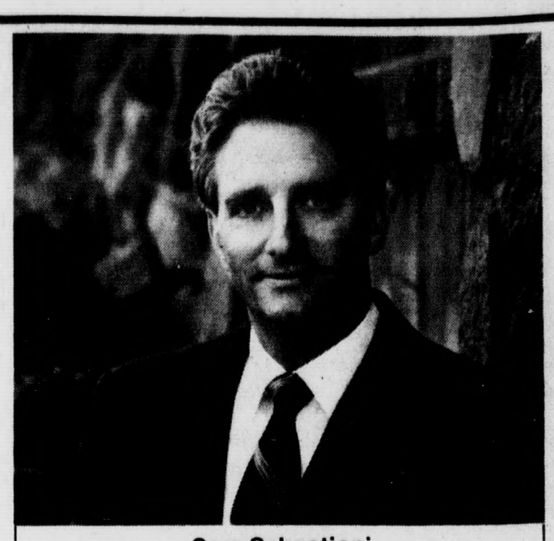

Occidental Collge organist James Walker will present a concert of classical and original music Tuesday, Feb. 16, at 8:15 p.m. in the college's Herrick Chapel.

Walker's annual concert is free and open to the public. For further information, call (213) 259-2621.

Dabney Lounge Chamber music

Pianist Paul Sweetnam continues the Dabney Lounge Chamber Music series at Caltech on Sunday, Feb. 14 at 3:30 p.m.

This concert is open to the public, free of charge, and no tickets are required. Dabney Lounge is located at Chester Ave., south of Del Mar Blvd. on the Caltech campus in Pasadena. Call 1-(800) 423-8849 or (818) 356-4652 for information.

Sam Sebastiani

Wine taster tomorrow, Feb. 12

Tickets are still available for the Wine Tasting Party on Feb. 12 at 6:30 in Alverno's Villa, 200 N. Michillinda Ave. The gala event, hosted by the Friends of the Library, promises to be an exciting and fun filled evening.

Sam Sebastiani, proprietor of Sam J. Sebastiani Wines, will be on hand to discuss his wines and autograph programs. The winemaker from Bogle Winery will also attend.

There will be vintage wines form 18 wineries in all, with finger food provided by Trader Joe's. An engraved souvenir wine glass will be given to each guest.

Tickets are $15 and can be purchased at the Sierra Madre Public Library, The Bottle Shop, Happy's Wines and Spirits, and Howie's Ranch Market. All proceeds will go to benefit the Sierra Madre Public Library.

Woman's Club plans antique show Feb. 20, 21

By Phyllis Chapman

This will be lucky 13.

So states the Sierra Madre Woman's Club as it prepares to host its 13 Annual Benefit Antique Show and Sale. It is set for Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 20 and 21, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., at their clubhouse, the historic Essick House, 550 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. Efforts are geared to making the event, a major club fundraiser, surpass the success of past years.

Chairman Shirley Morely has invited 12 selected antique dealers from the San Gabriel Valley area who will feature a variety of antiques and collectibles to tempt both the antique buyer and the memorabilia buff. Representing Sierra Madre will be KC's Closet and Christopher's. Morely, who followed her mother in the business and is recognized as an authority on antiques, will include some of her collection as well.

Proceeds from the event are earmarked for the club's philanthropy fund. Philanthropic contributions are high on the list of the club's priorities with the largest portion going toward providing for needs in the community.

Essick House is an ideal setting for the annual event. The building has been recognized in Gebhard and Winter's Guide to Architecture in Los Angeles (now in its third printing) as a place of historic and architectual note. It is a large, true bungalow (one-story) with open lattice work area under a flat roof to provide ventilation and contribute to a more comfortable climate in the home long before air conditioning. Evidence of solar heating is still visible in the building.

The Woman's Club purchased Essick House in the early 1970s, saving it from demolition to make way for apartment construction and received tremendous community support in restoring the neglected structure. The club maintains it not only as club headquarters but also as an art gallery, community meeting place and as a rental for private parties.

Admission to the Antique Show and Sale is $2 and may be purchased at the door. There is a special $1.50 discout ticket available at various merchants in Sierra Madre or with an ad from the Sierra Madre News. Refreshments will be served to show guests.

Candidate night scheduled Feb. 25

The Homeowners/ Residents Association plans an open forum for the candidates for Sierra Madre City Council on Feb. 25, 7:30 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center. A member of the League of Women Voters will act as moderator and the public is invited.

At their last meeting, Jan. 28, 45 members participated in a "lively discussion" concerning the proposed addition to the Sierra Madre Public Library with Toni Buckner, city librarian, there to make the presentation and to answer questions. Many questions were asked concerning alternate plans such as adding a second story, limiting expansion, acquiring a new site and building a new library.

Former Mayor Carlyle Griffin also talked to the group about constructing a new home, from the first step of drawing up plans to the final filing of a Notice of Completion.

Ben, Kyle and Lisa Mihm

Mihms open new store

Ben and Lisa Mihm have opened a new carpet and floor covering store in Sierra Madre, located at 24 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre.

Lisa Bick will be remembered for her softball playing in Sierra Madre. She grew up in town, attended Bethany Church and was married there.

Ben was born in Glendale and he and Lisa met at Cal State L.A. They now have a son, Kyle.

After having lived in Hastings Ranch, the Mihms moved to Sierra Madre last May and started making plans to go into business for themselves. Ben had been in the carpet cleaning business for seven years so it was a natural transition.

Ben says, "We carry five major brands. Although we are a little store, our prices are comparable with the major stores. We have such a low overhead that we don't need to mark up our prices much. We can compete with the big markets and we feature no gimmicks."

The Mihms say they won't feature "junk" but believe in high grade carpet. They also have a full line of Congoleum and will begin their hardwood line within the next two months.

Salespersons out in the surrounding communities, who work out of the Sierra Madre office, include Paul Chamberlain, Donna Currie and Norm Snavely.

One of the unique characteristics of the business is that they make house calls and, of course, give free estimates. You might say, they have carpets and will travel.

"When we moved here, I finally felt like I was coming home," Ben told The News. "I love this place. It feels like home."

Fast Jupiter

Jupiter is the fastest rotating planet in our solar system, spinning on its axis once almost every 10 hours at its equator. A stationary object at its equator would be traveling at 27,720 miles per hour.

Arcadia filing closes

As filing closed for Arcadia's Apr. 12 city election, four candidates are vying for two seats on the City Council and four are seeking the city clerk's office which is being vacated by Christine Van Maanen, who has held the position for the past 32 years.

Incumbents Charles Gilb and Mary Young are seeking re-election to the positions they now hold on the City Council while challengers are Charles Chivetta and Joanna Hofer.

For the city clerk's position, the four candidates are June D. Alford, Joyce McCartney, Deborah McCloughlin and Stella Ross.

Valentine Dance set for Friday, Feb. 12

A Valentine holiday big band dance is scheduled for this Friday, Feb. 12, at the Sierra Madre community recreation center at 611 E. Sierra Madre Blvd.

The 20-piece Ashley Williams Orchestra will play during the evening which begins at 7 a.m. with free introductory dance in cooperation with Tony Moscato, ballroom dance instructor. The social dance will begin at 8 p.m. and end at midnight. There will be refreshments.

All proceeds go to the youth programs in Sierra Madre.

Moscato survived a health-threatening bout with cancer and has written two books about his experience, "You Bet You Can" and "I Choose to Live." He sings and teaches dancing.

Plans for construction in six weeks for Baldwin eyesore

The community of Sierra Madre keeps asking the same question: What is happening on N. Baldwin to the former gallery? After several phone calls a news story began to form.

Jason Wright, a public relations person for Aetna Casualty and Surety Company, the insurance company handling the claim, says they are waiting for the final report on the engineer to prepare the proposal for bid then they will line up two contractors to bid on the work.

Although the earthquake occurred Oct. 1, 1987 and the property has been boarded up since, Wright says there really has not been much delay.

"These types of things (earthquake rebuilding) take longer. We have the preliminary report from the engineer . . . It takes longer because there is structural, earthquake damage. Whatever is done must be safe. It's the nature of the claim that takes longer than a fire claim. Safety is the first concern, timeliness second."

He estimates that in about six weeks the community will see "something happening."

The property is in a trust owned by Security Pacific Bank with Erica DeRonde as senior real estate officer.

Patricia Sullivan-Goss had her gallery there until the earthquake. Since then she has been working out of her home.

Conrad speaks on cardiology

Dr. Gary Conrad

The Happy Hearts program scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 17 in Lewis Hall at Methodist Hospital will feature Gary Conrad, MD, area cardiologist. His intriguing presentation, "New Drugs in Cardiology: Why your stockbroker is talking about TPA, Mevacor and Flecainide?", will explain how recent FDA approval of certain drugs will impact the cardiac patient and the manufacturer's stock value. These three drugs are currently being used in this area.

Tissue Plasminogen Activator (TPA) is a specific thrombolytic agent that can be administered to dissolve a clot blocking a coronary artery. To be effective in saving tissue, and the life of a heart attack patient, TPA must be administered promptly. Mevacor (Levostatin) is an agent that blocks cholesterol production within the liver cell. Because most cholesterol is generated in the liver, this drug has tremendous potential in the ongoing battle with cholesterol as it relates to the control of coronary heart disease.

Flecainide (Tambocor) is an anti arrhythmetic drug, the first of a new class of agents being prescribed for heart beat regulation. It is credited with being highly effective with fewer side effects.

While Dr. Conrad will be speaking to the potential of these new drugs, he will also address possible complications and side effects where the use of traditional treatment would be advisable.

Happy Hearts program are a free community service. No reservations are necessary. Easy access parking is available in the Physicians' Parking Lot. For additional information call (818) 574-3422.

Visitation day set for Feb. 19, S.M. School

Kindergarten Visitation Day in Sierra Madre School is scheduled for Friday, Feb. 19, 9 to 10 a.m. at Sierra Madre School, located at 141 W. Highland Ave., Sierra Madre. For more information please call 355-1428.

Child care will be provided and the kindergarten program will be presented.

Ardens open second pizza shop in Arcadia

The Arden family of Sierra Madre has opened a pizza shop, called Mama's Old Fashion Pizza, located at 921 S. Baldwin Ave. on the corner of Baldwin and Fairview, Arcadia.

Another of their stores has been in San Gabriel for the past eight years, located at 1381 E. Las Tunas, featuring recipes originated in Chicago, handed down through three generations.

As a family operation all products are made on the location fresh daily. They say they are the only pizza parlor in the San Gabriel Valley to offer an "Orignial Mama's Old Fashion Large 16-inch Cheese Pizza for $4.99."

They use an original bread dough crust with heavy crushed tomato sauce and their own blend of spices, plus a pure mozzarella cheese. They have many toppings for their pizza plus thick or thin dough sandwiches.

Frank Arden says, "We extend an invitation for dinner to all of you San Gabriel Valley residents."

Frank and Paul operate the parlor.

Management course Mar. 3

"Production And Inventory Control" begins with an orientation Thursday, Mar. 3, 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at California State University, Los Angeles. For building location and room number call (213) 224-3501. The fee is $180 per class. Visa and MasterCard are accepted. To register call (213) 224-3504, Continuing Education.

GROUP GATHERS TO HONOR MOUNTJOY — Some of the friends from Sierra Madre who joined other Mountjoy friends in signing his nomination papers for another term in the State Assemblyman were Ann Fox, Mayor Andrew Roy Buchan, Gordon Rudolph, Elaine Rudolph and Olive Buchan. Mountjoy is fourth form left.

Harrington, Webb & Gordon

By Joan Reichardt

After a year of growth, Harrington Webb & Gordon have moved into the old Pink Cottage Building, which provides them with an increase in much needed space. Located now at 147 West Sierra Madre Blvd., this realty office is open seven days a week to serve the community.

Of all the businesses and services I have interviewed over the last year and one-half, Harrington Webb and Gordon is the first in which the owners and all employees live in Sierra Madre. I like that.

The principals — Ann Harrington, Judy Webb-Martin and Lynne Gordon — graciously head the office and interact with the community on an ongoing and active basis. Cathy Crockett, Judy Skiff, and Cher Tollefson add their many skills to make up this dynamic selling team. Support staff consists of two women: one who answers the phone and is enscoused by the front door to greet you is Ingeborg Morrow. And pulling all the loose ends together is the office manager, Dorothy Hobiack. It is these eight women who make up the business of Harrington, Webb & Gordon.

Of interest, Reg Tollefson, Cher's husband, and Fritz Crockett, Cathy's husband, are both local builders and developers. Both men provide Sierra Madre with responsible, careful construction projects. And when the occasion arises both have been known to restore an older home, rather than tear it down.

The office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday to conscientiously serve your local real estate needs with skill and experience. On Sunday the office is open from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Community Nursery School sponsors tour

By Eileen Lucas

The James Maurer home, one of the largest and most breathtaking in Sierra Madre, will be open to the public for the first time Mar. 6 during the Sierra Madre Community Nursery School's annual home tour.

One of the first homes to be built on Alegria Avenue, the home was occupied from 1969 to 1983 by attorney James Maurer and his big family. The current owners have expanded it to 4800 square feet and decorated it to be an entertainment showplace.

The Spanish - sytle home and its enormous rooms are highlighted by massive pieces of carved furniture such as the antique pharmacy cabinet in the dining room. Other attractions include a vast tiled deck, mahogany woodwork and a whimsical collection of Coca-Cola memorabilia. The kitchen has a large commercial range, a double refrigerator and a center island with its own sink. The grounds feature a roomy tree house (recently renovated) and a black - bottom pool.

Four other homes on the tour include one owned by a decorator who will be featured in the September issue of Home magazine, and a mysterious residence in San Marino that was found to have a number of secret passageways and hidden rooms.

Also featured on the tour will be displays of quilts and antique hats, an exhibit of sculpture, a recital of classical music, collections of weavings and refreshments.

Tickets are $8 in advance or $10 on the day of the tour. Advance tickets are available at Arnold's Hardware and the Bottle Shop in Sierra Madre; the Cheese Box, 106 E. Foothill Blvd., and Arcadia Party Rentals, 903 1st Ave. in Arcadia.

Meteor dust

Most of the 100 million meteors that enter the Earth's atmosphere each day burn up and filter down to Earth as dust. The total weight of this dust that falls in one year is estimated to be four million tons.

is treating the people of Sierra Madre."

Bartolai added, "Any business doing business in a city should have the identity of the office in town. I'd be reluctant to do business with another organization having offices in another town. I was on the council when we were negotiating and one of the key things was an office in town and a phone in the community. Concerning the studio, it is true by the terms of the agreement that you can move it out of the community. The spirit and intent was to have it accessible to the community."

Before Tuesday's meeting, Biolsi told The News, "If we're successful in moving the studio to the other location, it wouldn't make good business sense to continue to maintain an office at that location with only one employee, Marie Godfrey."

The News asked, "Doesn't the franchise say you must maintain an office in Sierra Madre?"

Biolsi answered Tuesday afternoon, "Yes, we're in full compliance with that now. We'd like to reduce the overhead expenses that could offset dramatic increases we've seen in our programming fees. We've seen a 50 percent increase in basic programming fees for 1987-88. We have to do something to reduce costs so we don't have to pass on the increases to our customers."

Donna Cline, a member of Telarts, the nonprofit board appointed as a liaison group between the city and the cable company, disagreed heartily with Biolsi before the council meeting Tuesday afternoon and at the evening council meeting.

At an earlier interview, she told The News, "I think that as one reads the franchise in an ethical and good spirited manner, it says we should encourage a healthy and creative local origination production programming policy. It is specifically for this reason that $5000 is given yearly to the community via Telarts. Plus the fact that there is a great deal of community interest in the use of the production facilities at the Sierra Madre cable station. The fact is that there simply has not been enough effort to make the local citizens aware that it (the studio) exists and is available for public use . . . When Joe (Biolsi) asked us (Telarts members) to research that as an alternative, in all fairness we started searching for alternate sites. Subsequently at a Telarts meeting when I related that several realtors had indicated they had found suitable sites, Joe's reaction was 'Who's going to pay for this?' (the studio, maintenance, rent). That indicates it was a financial consideration on the part of Cablevision, not one of availability."

Cline said that a new rate of $1500 per day was instituted after there had been no rate charged for the use of the studio. After several producers

Arcadia chamber mixer Feb. 17

All Seasons, Home of the Christmas Shoppe and Nickie & Betty's Place are two local businesses that will co-host the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce Mixer to be held on Wednesday, Feb. 17 from 5 to 7:30 p.m. at All Seasons, 815 W. Naomi Ave., Arcadia.

Having just finished her second Christmas at the current location in the Pavilions Center in West Arcadia, Marilyn Palfrey, owner of All Seasons, has been associated with the specialty decorating business for a total of 12 years.

Spring and Easter items will be featured for the mixer, while the shop specializes in silk flowers and plants, antiques and collectibles, pictures and prints.

Nickie Tripodes and Betty Houston, who own a Greek and Italian restaurant that bears their first names, have planned an hors d'oeuvre menu that will include spanakopita (spinach pie in filo dough), tiropites (cheese pies in filo), dolmathes (stuffed grape leaves), chicken Italiano (chicken breasts stuffed with prosciutto and provolone), as well as meatballs and Italian sausages.

The have just celebrated their first year of doing business at 993 W. Duarte Rd., Monrovia. "That's in the Pantry Center," adds Houston, who reports that she and her partner both came from families with restaurant backgrounds.

Tickets for the mixer are $5 each, and the fee includes two tickets on drawing, beverages and food. Reservations may be made by phoning the chamber office at 447-2159.

Daugherty receives PTA service award

Mary Dougherty received the Continuing Service Award from Arcadia PTA Council at luncheon held last week at the Holiday Inn in Monrovia.

Eleanor Powell, Honorary Service Award chairman, pointed out that Dougherty joins a list of 61 others who have received the honor from the council since 1936.

Assisting Powell were Superintendent Stephen Goldstone, Marilyn Hunt and Joan Leathery.

The identity of the honoree was revealed in a song performed by the "Phoebe-ettes," a name taken from one of the founders of PTA — Phoebe Apperson Hearst. The singing group included, in addition to the committee, Merrilyn Gilchriest, Joann Steinmeier and Donna Woods. Goldstone pointed out that he was not invited to join this chorus.

Steinmeier, PTA Council president, introduced past presidents: Powell, Barbara Saelid, Jo Ann Scott and Woods. Also introduced were past Honorary Service Award recipients: Pet Bierschbach, Marilyn Bryant, Muriel Call, Mavis Dumbacher, Charles Gilb, Pepper McCulloch, Frances Meehan, Donna Mills, San Orsini and Saelid.

Providing entertainment for the event was the Arcadia High School String Ensemble which included Haura Hudson, Charles Hu, Susan Kim, Scarlett Kim, Victor Li, Hsiao-Yu Chen, Tim Chen and David Park.

Coordinating the luncheon were Juday Jalalat, program; Marilyn Dale, hospitality; Call and Jean Wightman, courtesy; Linda Stephenson, invitations; Anita Chao, calligraphy; Adele Skibba, reservations; Lois Lewis, treasurer; and Kathy Valentine, publicity.

She first received an Honorary service Award from Highland Oaks Elementary School PTA in 1979; last year she was honored with the Continuing Service Award from Arcadia High School PTA.

Currently serving her third year as a member of the Arcadia School Board, Dougherty has been involved with PTA from Highland Oaks, where she served as unit president, to Foothills Junior High, Arcadia High and First District PTA.

She has been elected to the California School Boards Association Delegate Assembly.

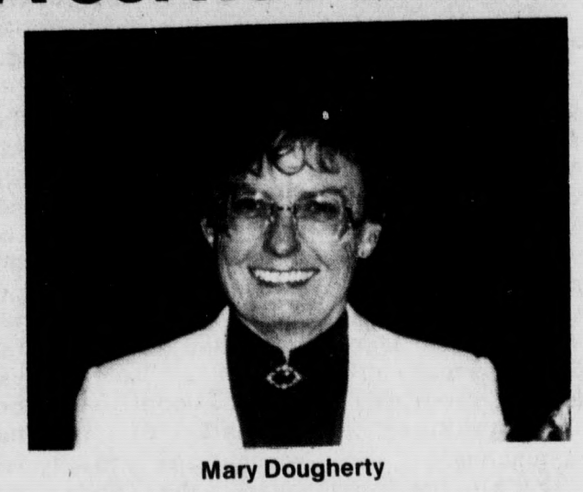

Dougherty has been president of Arcadia Newcomers Club and been active in Arcadiaans and the Republic Women's Club.

Recently she was instrumental in changing the image of Continuation High School by renaming it Huntington High and by helping to form the first PTA unit at the school.

She helped coordinate the Grocery Scrip program which is raising money for Arcadia schools through a joint effort of the elementary schools and the Arcadia Educational Foundation.

A native Californian, Dougherty graduated from Redlands University and worked for a number of years in the personnel department for the City of Pasadena.

She and husband Richard have two sons: Mike, a senior at the University of the Pacific; and Bill, a senior at Arcadia High.

MATH TEACHERS — John Wilkins and Jo Wilson are math teachers at Foothills Junior High School.

Wilkins, Wilson are math experts

John Wilkins and Jo Wilson, Foothills Junior High School mathematics teachers, frequently are asked to be conference speakers and presenters of professional development workshops as a result of their training and experience in the California Mathematics Project.

The Math Projects are invitational, professional development institutes which focus on improving mathematics teaching through an emphasis on problem solving and critical thinking skills, leadership development, teacher networking and teaching strategies to encourage female and minority students to succeed in mathematics.

Selected on the basis of applications, essays and personal interviews, Wilson took part in the UCLA Mathematics Project for teachers of grades 7 through 12 last summer, and Wilkins participated in the K-8 Math Project at Dominquez Hills the previous summer.

Additionally, Wilkins began serving as one of two mentor teachers or facilitators for the Dominquez Hills Math Project beginning last summer, a position Wilson has been asked to fill for the UCLA Math Project starting next summer.

Following a student teaching experience at Arcadia High School and his graduation from California State University, Los Angeles, Wilkins began his 10-year teaching career at Foothills Junior High.

Wilson earned a B.A. degree in math and physical science from St. Cloud State in Minnesota and a master's in education with a microcomputer emphasis from CalPoly, Pomona. She taught in Minnesota and in central California before starting at Foothills 14 years ago.

The dedication of these two teachers is a matter of pride to the students, parents and faculty of Foothills, according to Pam Hursey, PTA spokesperson.

PTA plans Founders' Day, Honorary Service Awards

Arcadia's PTA units are planning Founder's Day and Honorary Service Awards programs this month to coincide with the beginning of the Parent-Teachers Association in 1987.

Special volunteers at the various schools are recognized for their service to youth with the presentation of Honorary Service Awards, Continuing Service Awards and Silver Bar Awards.

The recipients at Dana Junior High will be playing the game Pictionary in a program that also will feature the Dana Mariner Band under the direction of Art Farr and the chorus led by Diane Lucas on Tuesday, Feb. 16 at 7:30 p.m..

Pat Gooley is Honorary Service chairman at Dana, and she is assisted by Carol Curtis, Joe Fox, Martha Henderson and Debbie Humpert.

"Clue in on Scotty" will reveal honorees at Foothills Junior High on Tuesday, Feb. 23, at 7:30 p.m.

PTA President Robin Stafford heads a committee composed of Pat Howell, Pam Hursey, Sharon Novell and Principal Penny Taylor.

"Talk to the Animals" disclosed the award winners at Camino Grove Elementary yesterday, Feb. 10. Kim Chang was chairman with the assistance of Marnie Ceporius, Pam Dupre, Irene Finley, Jane Ford, Karen Gollhardt, Betsy Hatch and Mary Simon.

On Wednesday, Feb. 17, "The Three Amigos" will recognize the recipients at the Highland Oaks multipurpose room at 7 p.m.

Terry Barninger chairs the committee consisting of Paul Kearns, principal; Karen Clark, PTA president; Peggy Bray, Julie Foster, Donna Luby, Tino Pagone and Terry Totten.

"Moonlighting — a Mystery at Holly" will unveil the leading characters of the evening on Monday, Feb. 22 at 7 p.m. Coordinating the event are Pat Nakamoto, PTA president, with Nancy Mays and Sandi McQuilkin.

Jim Barrows heads the Founders' Day committee at Baldwin Stocker. Assisting him in playing "Jeopardy" on Tuesday, Feb. 23 at 7:30 p.m. will be Margaret Barrows, Patti Beaston, Joann Harris, Ellen Rudxik, Margie Zwick and Principal Mary Ann Sund.

"The Nifty Fifty," a talent show with students from each grade level, will be produced at the Hugo Reid cafetorium at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 25.

Midge Evans chairs the committee that includes PTA President Glad Baquet and Julie Bottala, Carol Graham, Lynn Gulbranson, Cheryl Plotken, Julie Postle, Eileen Sinner and Linda Thrasher.

Teachers coordinating the program are Marsha Burkhalter, Molly Dudley and Kathie Geary.

It has already been announced that Robert Kinsey, Teri Weeks and Barry White will be recognized by the Arcadia High PTA. They will received their awards at a "Marching Along with PTA" program on Thursday, Feb. 25 at 3 p.m. in the school's cafeteria.

Kathy McCreary is chairman of the committee with members Joan Flinn, Marilyn Hunt, PTA president, Pat Hrstitch, Sue Paxson, Linda Schube and Kathy Valentine.

Branson accepted in honor band

Ken Branson, a sophomore at Arcadia High School, competed for and was accepted into the 1988 All-State Honor Band.

Selected from over 900 applicants, Branson, who plays French Horn in both the band and orchestra at Arcadia High, will be a member of the 120-student honor band which will present a formal concert at the California State Music convention in El Cajon on Sunday, Feb. 14.

Admittedly, he doesn't play any other instrument very well. Branson began playing the French horn seven years ago when he was a fourth grader at Hugo Reid Elementary School.

Because he liked the French horn section in the music from "Peter and the Wolf," Branson decided that that would be the instrument with which he would initiate his musical career.

While at Foothills Junior High, he was a student of Tom Barnes and played in the school's band and orchestra. Tom Landes is band director at Arcadia High.

Branson's older sister Kathy, a Pomona College student plays the violin and his younger sister Karen is a student of the clarinet at Foothills.

In addition to his musical endeavors, Branson has played AYSO soccer for approximately 10 years and is just learning to run the hurdles as a member of the high school track team.

First music boxes in 1835

Toy music boxes were first made about 1835. The earlies types were round metal boxes. They played a single tune and were operated by a crank.

Papay chosen 'citizen'

Carol D. Papay was declared 1988 Arcadia "Citizen of the Year" Monday evening.

The list of her accomplishments reads like numerable "Who's Whos" and her support in the community is legendary.

More information about Papay is forthcoming.

Father - son bowling Feb. 14

Holly Avenue Elementary School PTA has announced its annual father/son event, an afternoon of bowling on Feb. 14 from 3 to 4:30 p.m. at Santa Anita Lanes in Arcadia.

Gary Myrdahl, event chairman, has planned the bowling function with prizes and trophies for winners and refreshments for all.

He reports that fathers and sons may bowl for $1 per game and that the bowling alley will provide free shoe rental and two free video game tokens for each boy.

Each family participating will have an opportunity to win one of the three bowling balls that will be given away in the drawing, adds PTA President Pat Nakamoto.

BE MY VALENTINE

I always enjoy Valentine's Day. It's a time to send nice greetings to everyone you like to tell them how much we appreciate knowing them.

I wish we could send a special one to each of you but since we can't please accept this one as special, just for you.

We try to show you the way we feel every day by the way we take care of your clothes.

The little extras that we do — a seam stitched here — a cuff tack caught there — all these little touches tell you how much we care.

The way we clean all your clothes and household items with the finest solvents, remove even the most difficult spots, press them to the smart, good looks they had when you bought them — these tell you too.

Have a happy day and let us continue to show you how we care for your clothes when you

Bring them to —

Bethany

By Al Elby

BCGG . . . It's not another governmental agency (we don't need any more). In reality it stands for "Bethany Church Growth Group." These are Bible studies that are held weekly in homes of some of our members. Its benefits are primarily derived from studying God's Word. There are also numerous other joys and blessings, namely the fellowship, the unity of praying together, and the group support we receive from sharing our cares and concerns.

If you've never been in a group of this kind you have a treat in store. There is established a warm fellowship that provides the mucilage that binds hearts together in the Lord. Centering about the Word fosters spiritual growth amidst the pleasure of being together. Let me quickly comment on another dimension and that is the "prayer and care" that is an integral part of the program. God has repeatedly encouraged us to bring all things to Him and also to love and be genuinely concerned about one another. The prayers and concerns of the group fulfill these two directives.

Our Growth Groups provide one of the pillars of ministry at Bethany. It is our pastor's hope and prayer that everyone who attends Bethany would be afforded the opportunity of BCGG membership . . . Join us and join a Growth Group.

TV viewing

The average American household watches TV for seven hours and two minutes a day according to A.C. Nielsen reports.

Free stamps

Postal service in the small nation of Andorra is free, thanks to the booming business of selling stamps to tourists and collectors.

Congregational

At all three morning services, 8:15, 9:45 and 11:15 on Feb. 14, Craig Barnard, minister to young adults, will be speaking on the topic — "Peace With God," using Romans 5 as his scriptural reference.

The New Testament book, Romans, addresses the issues of life with clarity, insight and authority. For many of us, perhaps all of us, life is a raging turbulent war within covered by a veneer of tranquility. The Bible offers us a peace that goes to the depth of our being, a peace that rests heavy and sure despite our circumstances and emotions, a peace available to all, yet known by only a few. This message will define peace, describe it, and point the way to experience.

At the 6 p.m. evening service, Pastor Larry Mills, minister of Christian Education, will be issuing a challenge to the congregation to "Go and Do!" Based on Luke 10: 25-37, Pastor Mills' challenge will be a potent study in the fine art of being neighborly.

Methodist

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed this Sunday at the Sierra Madre United Methodist Church. At the 9:30 morning worship service, Rev. H. Elwood Wissmann will give the Communion Meditation entitled "Strength For The Journey." Nursery and child care are provided during the worship hour. Church School classes for children through grade six are also held at the 9:30 hour.

The Administrative Council will hold its first meeting of the year this Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., in the Choir Room. On Wednesday, Feb. 17, Ash Wednesday will be observed at the church beginning with a time of directed prayer and meditation throughout the day. The Sanctuary will be open for personal meditation. At 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, there will be a special Ash Wednesday service of meditation and worship in the Sanctuary.

Two Prayer and Support Groups meet weekly — an evening group, Mondays, 7:30 at the Parsonage and an afternoon group, Thursdays, 2:30 p.m., in the Church Lounge. The Aldersgate Choir rehearses on Thursdays, at 7:30 p.m.

Lutheran — WELS

The sermon theme for next Sunday at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church in Sierra Madre is "Paradise." Sunday School and Bible Study follow. Lenten Services will be held at 7:30 p.m. every Wednesday during Lent, beginning Feb. 17. We invite you to attend!

"Attending services doesn't depend on how far you live from church, but how close you live to God!"

Chiropractic College offers free health care

Cleveland Chiropractic College of Los Angeles (CCCLA), has Doctors with a Heart! The CCCLA Clinic, participating in the national, "Doctors with a Heart Program," will open its doors, feb. 12, to provide free health care and treatment to all current and new patients from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Currently treating over 1000 patients weekly, Cleveland Chiropractic Clinic, located at 590 North Vermont Ave., Los Angeles, is open from Monday - Thursday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For further information and/or appointments call (213) 655-4200.

Lutheran Church celebrates

For Lutheran Church of the Cross, Arcadia, Sunday, Feb. 21 will be a landmark day highlighting two major events. On that date the congregation will celebrate the beginning of its Lenten season with an Intergenerational Event which will begin at 8:45 a.m. in the church's Fellowship Hall. Through stories, music, and art activities, participants will be guided in considering and acting on their responses to God's free Gift of Grace.

The 10 a.m. worship service itself will be highlighted by the re-dedication of the sanctuary, which has been under reconstruction and unfit for public occupancy since the Oct. 1, 1987, earthquake. Since that date, all church-related activities have been conducted in the Fellowship Hall, an experience which has proven to be a very positive and cohesive influence in changing the worship focus of the congregation. Service will begin in the Fellowship Hall and the assemblage will then process together into the newly restored sanctuary.

All are welcome to attend these special events located at 66 West Duarte Road, Arcadia. Nursery care is provided.

The American Diabetes Association presents the First Annual Ski Run on Feb. 26, at Snow Summit in Big Bear. The $30 donation, which helps support ADA's programs and services, includes an all day lift ticket, lunch, soft drinks, racing, prizes and a Snow Summit 35th Anniversary t-shirt.

Tickets are available at the Inland Empire Office, 2060 Chicago Ave., Ste. A-9 in Riverside. Call 788-4840 for further information.

Twilight nursing program scheduled at PCC

The new innovative Twilight Nursing Program at Pasadena City College will now give greater flexibility to working students who are looking for a career in nursing. This program, with classes scheduled during the late afternoon and evening hours, will accommodate those students who find it impossible to attend college during the day.

There are only two other such programs in southern California; one, implemented at the University of California in San Francisco after considerable research indicated that a Twilight Nursing Program would definitely be an asset to the community and one at Azusa Pacific College, which has proven very successful.

If you are considering a career in nursing and would like further details, pleas call the Pasadena City College Nursing Department at (818) 578-7323.

Golf tournament set for Feb. 29, Santa Anita

Prizes, a service club challenge and an opportunity to win a 1988 Buick will highlight the Second Annual Golf tournament sponsored by the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce to be held on Monday, Feb. 29 at the Santa Anita Golf Course in Arcadia.

For a hole-in-one on a selected three par, a golfer will have a chance to win a new Buick, offered by Becherer Buick in Monrovia. Awards will be given for the individuals with the longest drive and closest-to-the-pin on selected holes, reports Stan Cruse, Chamber president.

Registration is scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m., and a putting contest will take place between 10 and 11 a.m. The shotgun start is slated for 11:30 a.m.

An awards banquet catered by the Bashful Butler will be held immediately following the tourney at Arcadia House, 301 So. First Ave., Arcadia.

Dian Chapman is chairman of the event, and she is assisted by Scott Henderson from Santa Anita Golf Course, Don Kennedy, Robin Kleinhampl, Larry and Harriet McComas, Carl Reinhardt and Bob Ward.

Cost of the event is $35 for golf only, $35 for awards dinner only or $65 for golf and dinner.

Entries must be received by February 16, according to Cruse who adds that reservations may be made by calling the chamber office at 447-2159.

Cablevision is sold

complained, the price was lowered to $150 per day. She also said that the mobile van had been gutted in mid-August, 1987, and it was towed to Arcadia where it sits now.

Todor Fay also argued against Biolsi, "He said there were no productions in 1987. I was there once a week donating time on productions and the studio was closed down not due to lack of interest or enthusiasm. Local access people are wonderful. I had to dig to find such competent people but they are under a dark cloud. It is due to no fault on the part of local employees that public access is being turned into such a secret."

Several people suggested advertising the public access ability in other ways than on television.

Again, Biolsi agreed to maintaining the payment station in Sierra Madre but the future of the studio is still "iffy."

Bartolai made a motion asking for a status report at the next council meeting.

Cablevision has been sold to United Artists Communications Inc. and the takeover will be completed in six months. Daniels & Associates Inc. has had the company for just over a year.

City Councilmembers decided to spend $43,000 toward reviding the feee and tax system in Sierra Madre to generate more funds. They agreed to invite Management Services Institute, headed by Doug Ayres, to look into the revenue and cost of fees and taxes for $33,000 and into development of impact fees for $10,000. Councilwoman Lisa Fowler made the motion and it passed unanimously.

Bartolai made the motion that the council conduct a reassessment of the question as to the impact of the closure of Chantry Flat Road then declare a negative impact. "Then we can move ahead with a negative declaration," he suggested.

One of the Chantry neighbors noted that he was "pleased" and that this action would save the city $4000 to $10,000 for an Environmental Impact Report.

The question has arisen concerning whether landowners above the Chantry gate that is closed from 10 p.m. until 6 a.m. daily would have access to a gate lock.

In othe action, the council decided to have a public hearing Feb. 23 to consider expenditure for markers for the Cultural Historic Landmark Register sites and an appropriation of $6000 from the undesignated general fund for the plaques or markers.

They also decided to affirm the action of the Planning Commission in denying construction of a corral and maintenance of horses within an R-1 zone, 605 Edgeview Dr. And they asked for a summary of evidence of why the Planning Commission denied Andrew Buckwell a variance for a house and garage at 208 Old Ranch Rd.

Ron Hutson is now Sierra Madre's Main Street project manager and will start work within the week.

Arcadia soccer team victorious

Arcadia High School's boys soccer squad rebounded from last week's loss to Pasadena to defeat Burroghs 2-0.

In the second half, Jim Marshall lobbed the ball over the goalie's head for Arcadia's final goal.

Newcomer Scott Wexler helped Arcadia regulars in preserving another shutout.

The win keeps the Apaches (8-2-2 in Foothill League) in contention for a CIF playoff spot with two games this week to finish out the regular season. Arcadia faced San Gabriel on Tuesday and will host Hart on the City Hall field today, Thursday, Feb. 11 at 3:15 p.m.

La Salle has 2 victories

Two victories were recorded by La Salle High School's boys basketball team last week as the Lancers headed into the final week of the season.

Steve Hatch with 20 points led La Salle in last Tuesday's 73-56 win over Salesian. Hatch, a senior forward, had missed the first half of Santa Fe League play with a sprained ankle.

Other leading scorers were Chris Schneider, 18 points; Mike O'Brien, 16; and Dindo Valencia, 14.

La Salle's 29-23 halftime lead was enhanced by a 29 point fourth quarter for the third win of the season. Last year the Lancers suffered a winless season.

Friday's victory was a 49-42 decision over Pater Noster in which John Busarello, with 14 points, was the leading scorer. Valencia added 13 and O'Brien got 9 points.

The Lancers met the league-leader Cathedral on Tuesday of this week and will close out the season against arch rival, Chaminade of Canoga Park, at home on Friday, Feb. 12 with the varsity contest scheduled for 7 p.m.

Soccer team breaks scoreless tie against Muir

Trish McNamee put the icing on the victory when she scored following a corner-kick by Traci Fisher.

It was an important victory for the Apaches as a loss or a tie would probably have eliminated them from CIF playoff contention for the first time in the past six years, according to Coach John Garton.

Arcadia hosted Hart yesterday, Wednesday, Feb. 10, for what was probably the biggest game of the season. At game time Hart was leading Arcadia by one point as they vie for playoff positions. Results of the game were not available at press time.
